example ubmu0013_1_001a is the root file name for the digital files derived from Cassette 001 Side A. The digital files for the reels are numbered sequentially to follow the cassette numbering (digital files for cassettes are numbered 001-390; digital files for the reels are numbered 391-412). For the cassettes, service copies were created directly from the preservation masters. For the reels, intermediate Production master files were created to match the content, one file per musical work or spoken word segment. Service copies were derived from the Production masters.

Historical Note

The North American New Music Festival was founded in 1983 by pianist/composer Yvar Mikhashoff and percussionist Jan Williams, faculty members of the University at Buffalo Music Department and dedicated proponents of contemporary and avant-garde art music. Their aim was to produce, over a ten-day period, a concentrated series of concerts and related events at multiple Buffalo-area locations. These annual music festivals featured a wide range of modern musical styles composed and performed both by emerging creative musicians and by established composers of national and international reputation.

The Festivals were held in March or April in the years between 1983 and 1992, in October of 1993. Events took place in more than a dozen locations, including concert halls, art galleries, churches, theaters, and cabarets.

II. Reel-to-reel tapes, 1983-1993
Reel 1-22

The 22 reel to reel tapes were added to the collection after the cassette collection had been processed. All but one of these tapes were created by Buffalo public radio station, WNED. For some of the tapes, WNED recorded North American New Music Festival concerts with their own engineers and then added interviews and spoken introductions by program producer Leila Lustig. Some programs combined content from more than one North American New Music Festival concert, and one recording included content from outside the festival proper. WNED reels have been dated based on the date of the North American New Music Festival performance. The dates of production are unknown but presumably occurred shortly after the concert dates.

The final tape in this series is a reel-to-reel recording of the performance of Stockhausen's Mantra, also available on Cassette 63.

The WNED tapes are placed first, chiefly in chronological order, followed by the additional recording of Stockhausen's Mantra. The contents of the reels were numbered according to placement on the reel.

Separated Material

The following 217 musical works were performed during the North American New Music Festival but not recorded. In the original inventory they were assigned work numbers and were stated within the list where they chronologically occurred in the programming. The works are listed by the original numbering. They are included here to show the entire performed content of the festival. However, as a list of works never recorded, it does not truly represent anything physically separated from the collection.
